For New Albion Street School Turned — Preparations For Building Going Forward.

The first sod has been turned on the site of the new Albion street school. A large staff of men are at work on the ground, although to date the work has consisted principally of unloading stone and erecting such temporary buildings as are necessary for protection of stonecutters and materials. The old buildings have, of course, completely disappeared, nothing remaining but the holes which once contained their foundations. Several hundreds cords of fine white limestone has been unloaded for the foundation work of the new school, and altogether indications point to the fact that the work will be pushed forward assiduously.
